That which endures

In A.D. 635 a group of Christian missionaries from Syria arrived in China and began to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ. The Spirit worked and the Christian church grew. Today the Tang Dynasty is remembered as the age of Buddhism in China, but historians also note that Christianity grew rapidly at the same time. More than six hundred years later Marco Polo noted the existence of many Christian congregations during his travels in China.

The ancient Chinese Christian Church would be almost forgotten except for a ten foot high stone known as the Nestorian tablet. Decorated with a cross and covered with more than 2000 Chinese characters, it was erected in A.D. 781 in testament to the inroads that Christianity made into that great empire. If you travel to China and visit the famous terra cotta warriors in Xian, you can also see the Nestorian tablet which has been moved there for display. (Many thanks to Bob and Betty Helmen who brought back a souvenir picture book of the tablet from their recent visit!)

I've given you that bit of history because lately I've been thinking a lot about one line from the tablet: "Its (Christianity's) principles will survive when the framework is forgot." World history has proven the truth of this statement over and over again. Churches have blossomed and flourished, powered by the gospel of Jesus Christ. As those churches grew, certain styles of worship and church policy grew up. Over time, those styles changed or were forgotten. I daresay that Chinese Christian worship style of A.D. 781 would be very different from our customs today. But the message—the grace that our Lord showed to us in Jesus Christ—has not changed or been forgotten.

This month as we gear up for the summer, we'll be seeing some changes in worship at Pilgrim. On the first Sunday of June we'll start our outdoor worship services again. Along with that we'll change our schedule—first service at 8:30 AM and second (outdoor) at 10:30 AM. Once the summer season is over, we will keep the new service times—8:30 and 10:30. The style of the 10:30 service will be "contemporary" while we'll keep the 8:30 service "traditional." It's my hope that different worship styles will give us different perspectives on our faith and the meaning of worship. Neither style is right or wrong, and the message of Jesus Christ will not change. May the Lord keep us faithful to him!

(I fear I've gone a bit long this month . . . I'll be writing more on this throughout the summer.)

The grass withers and the flowers fall, but the word of our God stands forever.
-Isaiah 40:8

Highlights of the April Ladies Guild Meeting

The ladies honored Gussie Ledin on her 90th birthday with a song, a beautifully decorated cake and fresh “jelly bean” colored flowers. Photos were taken of Gussie with the other special women who have reached 90, Dorotha Dorschner and Evelyn Melin.

Pastor Leyrer spoke to us about three new opportunities for service coming up at Pilgrim: 1) Evangelism training sessions to teach people how to share their faith in Jesus Christ. 2) Stephen Ministries, a caring ministry, to train people to visit the sick, elderly, shut ins or grieving. 3) Grief Group Ministry support for those who have suffered a loss. Detailed information will appear in the bulletins and newsletter.

At our March meeting we discussed changing the Constitution. The second reading of the change of Article IV, Section 1 is as follows: ...”These shall constitute the Executive Committee, and are elected for a term of two years. No member shall be allowed to hold the same office for more than four years in succession.”

SHARING-CARING: Lila Aaske talked with Kathy Voss – she is doing well with both chemo and radiation after her cancer surgery and is thankful for prayers.

Eldora Danner’s funeral was held at the mortuary with many Pilgrim members present. Her neighbor shared how she loved the Lord and her church and how blessed she felt receiving a prayer shawl before surgery.

Ruby Lange has moved to be closer to relatives: 7825 Church St. #9, Clear Lake, MN s55319-4522,

Bernice Jorgensen is in rehab at Augustana Health Care Center- she took her Guild reminder calling list with her! 1007 E. 14th St., #168, Mpls, MN 55404 We were grateful to have Ardelle Bloedel with us; she beautifully accompanied our singing.

Evangelism Committee Notes - 3/28/07

The committee made plans for the 4/1/07 coffee hour which happens to be Palm Sunday as well as Confirmation Sunday. The committee chose to purchase a sheet cake in honor of the confirmands.

Sharon Fischer and Sheri Emde are looking into coming up with ideas for a welcome gift for new members as well as visitors. We plan to have something ready for the 5/6/07 New Member Welcome Event during coffee hour.

Sheri Emde presented some ideas for a Pilgrim Information Sheet that we plan to have ready for the 6/2/07 Blood Drive. The committee looked it over and made some changes and additions. Pastor Pete indicated that he’s updating the information in the Pilgrim Welcome Folder and will see how he can incorporate such into the Pilgrim Information Sheet. This should be ready for our next meeting on Wednesday 4/25/07.

JUST A MINUTE ! Problems with the Pews

It appears that in a local church there was a potentially dangerous situation that was developing. The pews – which were as old as the church – had begun to dry out. This loss of moisture, and the subsequent loss of weight, had led to the distinct possibility that they might float free and move during the course of worship. That in itself presented a problem that during the worship service, a free-floating pew could damage a member or a guest. Further, it was believed that even if a member or a guest were able to dodge an oncoming free-floating pew, the evasive actions would probably disrupt the spiritual atmosphere of the other worshippers. The problem was brought before a committee in the church. The committee first considered using steel cables that would anchor the pews down to the bedrock beneath the church foundation, but that idea was thought to be too expensive.

The committee, after thinking over several options, decided that adding weight to the pews would be a better solution to the problems. The committee considered using brass or lead weights, but they, too, proved to be too expensive. After looking at different metals, they were either too costly or would not add to the worshipful atmosphere of the building. They wanted to find a medium density object that would be both sparkling and vibrant.

After looking at all the possibilities, the committee has chosen to use warm bodies to weigh down the pews, and the committee is asking membership to provide the necessary weight.

This can be done by coming to church and, if possible, by bringing a medium density object (in the form of a friend or neighbor) with you.

God's Blessings are often Unexpected

WELS Announces Generous Gift from Donor

An anonymous WELS family has announced its intent to donate approximately $2.5 MILLION a year for the next five years to support the Synod's ministry. A foundation previously setup by the family will also contribute approximately $170,000 a year for the next two years to support WELS worker-training schools. According to the donor, the funds will be available this calendar year.

It's not clear yet exactly what the gift means for the synod's budget and ministry. The Synodical council is to discuss the matter at its next meeting April 27 & 28. Even so, WELS president Karl Gurgel is grateful. "we react with double gratitude," he said, "First, we're surely grateful that God has lavished this unexpected gift on us. Second, God's goodness inspires all of us to meet the remaining challenges before us."

The family's pastor said the family is truly grateful for their own personal blessings, and in view of the gift of eternal life through Christ, they are offering this gift to the Lord to support WELS ongoing ministry at this critical time.

GIVE THANKS TO THE LORD FOR HE IS GOOD!

25 O LORD, save us; O LORD, grant us success.

26 Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD.

From the house of the LORD we bless you.

27 The LORD is God, and he has made his light shine upon us.

With boughs in hand, join in the festal procession up to the horns of the altar.

28 You are my God, and I will give you thanks; you are my God, and I will exalt you.

29 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

Psalm 118:25-29

There are many reasons to give thanks in our lives. The very fact that you are reading this means you have eyes that work. You were able to work your hands on the keyboard, mouse, and/or open this letter from the mailbox. That means you have hands that work. You will, Lord willing, take this information and distribute it in some form to the congregation that you are serving as pastor, secretary, or contact man. That means you have a place that can call your church home, a place where you regularly receive God's means of grace – the Gospel in word and sacrament. The page is not big enough to list all the items – spiritual and physical – with which the Lord blesses us each and every day.

In gratitude for what our Savior has accomplished in our lives, and the peace he gives us each day with our heavenly Father, we join the psalmist "in the festal procession up to the horns of the altar. You are my God, and I will give you thanks; you are my God, and I will exalt you."

We have an opportunity to respond to a need in our Synod, to continue the precious aspects of the gospel ministry our Savior has given us. But it is more than responding to a need; it is giving thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

God's richest blessings as you continue to proclaim the glorious Easter message each week, and as you work together with you flock to say thank you to the LORD for his mercy.

Would you like to Make A Difference?

We live in a “me” society. We are a consumer-driven, self-centered culture. It is only by the power of Christ that we are willing and able to consider others more important than ourselves. In Philippians 2, the apostle Paul says that this is the attitude Jesus had. It is the one we should have. It is the giving up of our own blessings and sharing them for the sake of others. Yes, that has to do with our approach to financial giving. But it is also reflected in our prayer life.

It is easy to pray for your own church. What if you picked a church in your community and prayed for that church tomorrow? And what if you prayed for another church the next day? Do you think that would make any difference? Do you really believe that the church in America, the churches of America, are in desperate need of help?

Here are ten areas where you can focus your prayers:

- Pray for yourself—to be a part of the solution. Pray this prayer every day, first thing in the morning: “Lord, use me for your Kingdom purposes today.” You might be surprised what excitement enters your day!
- Every time you pray the Lord’s Prayer, focus, personally, on the words, “Your Kingdom come, here on Earth as it is in Heaven.”
- Pray for pastors everywhere, many of whom are stressed out, overwhelmed, and discouraged. They are challenged by this changing society, which is becoming increasingly secular. For many, their churches are declining or plateaued. Pray that these pastors get help....
- Pray for lifeless churches. There are millions of people who are distraught about the dwindling numbers they see in worship. There are people everywhere who are upset by the lack of young families and the growing median age of their “graying” church. They know their staff works hard, and many of their leaders do, too. They are challenged to know what strategically can help their church. They are good people struggling because they are using bad methods. They need help!
- Pray for fractured congregations. Many churches have a dissenting group that is frustrated and misbehaves badly. These are often people who are control-oriented.
- Thank God for the increasing number of growing churches! Yes, it is a slow but determined trend of churches that are reinventing themselves. Most of these are getting help from the outside. It is difficult work. It is challenging, but it is very rewarding to see churches involved in a turn-around.
- Thank God for the receptivity of the people in North America. They are spiritually very interested. They are looking for someone to speak to them in relevant ways, people who are genuine and for whom Christianity has really made a difference.
- Thank God for all the ministries that are working to make a strategic difference.... Thank God for ... ministries you know who are coming along side churches and helping them. Pray for those in these ministries. This is very challenging, tough, gutwrenching work. These are people who are continuously over-worked and under-financed. Pray for these warriors who are on the cutting-edge for God’s plan for revival.

Thank God for the signs of revival. Not only the growing churches, but other dimensions of the first fruits of revival: the increased interest of North Americans in God; the creative use of technology to bring the Gospel to people in relevant ways; the strong, relational, networking elements of younger generations, which are a perfect platform for the Gospel to travel from one to another; the growing advancements in church planting, children’s ministries, and engaging ministries that help Christians share what God has done in their lives.
